

CareTeam believes that employers hold the key to truly changing the way that health care is delivered, and for over 12 years, we have been creating healthier workforces through our onsite and shared-employer health center solutions. The benefits for our clients are profound—increased productivity, boosted morale, elevated recruitment and retention rates, and finally, controlled healthcare costs.

We are a “team” of entrepreneurs and clinicians with experience in successfully transforming healthcare services. We are results-driven problem solvers, and we employ best-in-class technology, proven care management strategies, health coach training, and comprehensive communications solutions to achieve unprecedented outcomes. Those who Live Well, Work Well. There is no greater investment that an organization can make than in the health and well-being of its employees.

Scott Parks is the President of CareTeam, and is an avid healthcare entrepreneur. Before founding CareTeam, an employer worksite clinic company, he worked with some of the largest health systems across the US to deploy strategies to make physicians more efficient in their practices. He is a native of the Tidewater area, and graduated from the College of William and Mary.
